CHARGER OWNERS

EUGENE V. KLEIN

SAMUEL SCHULMAN

Eugene V. Klein and Samuel Schulman are general partners and majority owners of the San Diego Chargers.

Klein, club president, and Schulman, chairman of the board, headed a group of 21 which purchased the Chargers from Barron Hilton for $10 million on Aug. 25, 1966. Hilton retained a substantial interest in the club he founded in 1960.

Klein, 49, is chairman of National General Corporation, a Southern California-based organization with major holdings in motion picture theaters and movie and television production. With pro football size of 6-foot-5, 215 pounds, Klein played end in college at New York University. He was an Air Force pilot during World War II. He is married with two children.

Schulman, 60, is senior vice-president of National General Corporation. He attended New York University and Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration before entering a career in the book publishing business. He is an avid golfer (8 handicap) and owns a stable of race horses. He is married with two children.

In addition to Hilton, and his father, Conrad Hilton, two prominent San Diegans retained interests in the Chargers under the new ownership. They are James Copley, chairman of The Copley Press Inc. and publisher of the San Diego Union and Evening Tribune, and restaurant owner George Pernicano.

Other partners are San Diego business executives George Whitney and Bill Fox, General Motors vice-president John DeLorean, novelist John Quirk, James Jenkins and Dale F. Carney of Detroit, and Southern California professional and business men Jack Ostrow, Irving Levin, Frank Rothman, Jack Foreman and Nathan Kates.

BARRON HILTON

GEORGE PERNICANO

SID GILLMAN
GENERAL MANAGER

Sid Gillman this year entered a new phase of a distinguished football career. After 35 years as a coach, he began 1970 as full-time general manager of the San Diego Chargers.

Among the tributes to Gillman, when illness forced his retirement from coaching on Nov. 10, 1969, was this one from Pro Football Commissioner Pete Rozelle:

"I'm always glad to see people I admire get out of coaching because I know how demanding it can be. I just hope Sid can get satisfaction from keying all his energies to general managing and I think he can. I feel we haven't lost a coach; we've gained a general manager."

Although Gillman had served in the dual capacity of head coach and general manager since the birth of the Chargers in 1960, it was as a coach that he left his mark as one of the game's most successful and brilliant leaders. He retired as the fifth winningest coach in pro football history — Sid's 110 wins surpassed only by George Halas, Curly Lambeau, Steve Owen and Paul Brown.

Distinctive by his pipe and bow tie, Gillman guided the Chargers to five Western Division titles and one American Football League championship. He was a towering figure in the early battle of survival waged by the insurgent AFL.

"Sid Gillman brought class to the American Football League," said Al Davis, a member of Gillman's first Charger staff and now managing partner of the Oakland Raiders. "Being part of Sid's organization was like going to a laboratory for the highly-developed science of organized football."

Among other successful graduates of Gillman's first Charger staff were Chuck Noll, coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers; Jack Faulkner, personnel director of the New Orleans Saints, and Don Klosterman, general manager of the Baltimore Colts. Tom Fears, coach of the Saints, and Norm Van Brocklin, coach of the Atlanta Falcons, played for Gillman when he coached the Los Angeles Rams. Among Sid's former college pupils are coaches Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame and Paul Dietzel of South Carolina.

Gillman was born in Minneapolis on Oct. 26, 1911, and entered Ohio State University in 1930. As a Buckeye freshman he played baseball and basketball in addition to football. But after bypassing spring football practice in favor of baseball, he was sharply reminded of his football scholarship and played only football thereafter.

End Gillman was selected to the all-Big Ten team and made all-America honorable mention during his varsity years of 1931-33. He played in the 1933 East-West Shrine game and the inaugural College All-Star game of 1934.

After serving as end coach at Ohio State in 1934, Gillman took a brief fling at pro football in 1935 with the pre-NFL Cleveland Rams. He turned down subsequent offers from the old Boston Redskins (a bus ticket and $125 per game) and the Green Bay Packers (no bus ticket but $135 per game).

Gillman was an assistant coach at Ohio State, Denison and Miami of Ohio through 1943, head coach at Miami through 1947 and line coach at Army under Earl Blaik in 1948. Appointed head coach at the University of Cincinnati in 1949, he served for six years and compiled a brilliant record of 50 wins, 13 losses and 1 tie.

The pro football world was shocked when the Los Angeles Rams tapped the comparatively unknown Gillman to become their head coach in 1955, and flabbergasted when Sid piloted the Rams to the Western Division championship in his rookie pro year.

In five years as coach of the Rams—the longest tenure of any coach in L.A. history—Gillman presented a wide-open brand of football that attracted all-time National League record crowds into the L. A. Coliseum. Average game attendance in 1958 was 83,680.

When Barron Hilton formed the Chargers in 1960, he handed Gillman the coaching reins and general manager responsibilities. In 1967, Gillman received a new five-year contract from San Diego's new general partners, Gene Klein and Sam Schulman.

Many civic honors have come to Gillman, who has devoted an increasing amount of his off-season time to community service. In 1970 he became one of only three San Diegans ever to receive the Mayor's Outstanding Citizen Award.

Gillman, and his lovely wife of 35 years, Esther, have three married daughters—Lyle, Bobbie, Terry—one son, Tom, and six grandchildren.

CHARLIE WALLER
HEAD COACH

Charlie Waller, a Navy man, knows the ropes.

After waiting 23 years to become a head coach, he enters his first full year at the helm of the San Diego Chargers with confidence and resolution.

"Becoming head coach was only the first step," declared Waller. "Now the challenge is to become a good one. I'll guarantee you I'm not going to fail."

Waller took command of the Chargers after the ninth game of 1969 when illness forced the retirement from coaching of Sid Gillman. Charlie guided the Chargers to victories in four of their last five games—the last four in a row. He was rewarded with a new multi-year contract.

Although a new personality in pro football — he joined the Chargers in 1966 as offensive backfield coach—Waller has a substantial background in football. His coaching career has run the gamut from high school to college to the pros.

Charles Fletcher Waller was born in Griffin, Ga., on Nov. 26, 1921. He attended Griffin High School, the University of Georgia for one year and Oglethorpe College of Atlanta. A single-wing tailback, he captained the team at Oglethorpe. He was also a .385-hitting infielder and a standout boxer, who for three years battled in the Southeastern Golden Gloves finals.

A college graduate at 20, Waller joined the U.S. Navy as a member of Gene Tunney's physical fitness program. His four-year service included combat action on a destroyer task force in the North Atlantic and South Pacific. He was commissioned at sea for acts of heroism.

After being discharged a lieutenant JG, Charlie obtained his masters degree in education from the University of Georgia and began his coaching career at Decatur High School in suburban Atlanta. An assistant his first year, he became head coach in 1947 and went one to compile one of the best records in Georgia prep history. In four years, his teams won 43, lost 3 and tied 1—winning the last 25 games in a row and two state championships. He was Georgia "Coach of the Year" in 1949.

Waller stepped up to the college ranks in 1951 as offensive coach at Auburn under Coach Shug Jordan. He remained at the Alabama football powerhouse for four years and helped produce two Gator Bowl teams and "the best college backfield I ever saw"—Bobby Freeman, Bob James, Dave Middleton and Joe Childress.

Waller left Auburn in 1955 to serve as offensive coach at the University of Texas. In 1957 he moved to Clemson as offensive coach under Coach Frank Howard and remained at the South Carolina school through 1965. Clemson played in two bowl games during Waller's tenure and was noted for its offensive backfield punch.

Waller calls his decision to join the Chargers in 966 as "one of the two best things that ever happened to me. The other was meeting my wife." Four times previously, Charlie had refused Sid Gillman's entreaties to join his coaching staff with the Los Angeles Rams, Los Angeles Chargers and twice with the San Diego Chargers.

"When I finally accepted a job from Sid, I thought I'd stay in San Diego for a couple of years and then take a head job with one of the colleges," said Waller. "But I quickly discovered that this is where I belonged. Pro football was my element."

Waller justified Gillman's confidence in him. In 1967, 1968 and 1969, the Chargers finished second in total offense in the American League. And when Gillman was forced to retire, Waller was his personal choice to succeed him.

Waller has been described as "a charmer on the outside with steel on the inside . . . a low-key person who gets along with people easily . . . a positive thinker who exudes confidence." He likes to golf, run and play with the family's two dogs.

Waller's vivacious wife, Maxine, was a former Maid of Cotton in her hometown of Montgomery, Ala. The Wallers have five daughters — Peggy and Patsy are married; Cheri, 14, Karen, 12, and Mary Frances, 10, are at home in San Diego.

CHARGERS TRAIN AT UC IRVINE

The San Diego Chargers will hold their 1970 summer training camp on the campus of the University of California at Irvine.

UC Irvine is located approximately 90 miles north of San Diego and three miles east of the Pacific Ocean. The 1,510-acre campus was opened in 1965. Nicknamed the Anteaters, UC Irvine has an enrollment of 4,000 and fields teams in eight sports—but not yet football.

Charger staff will report to UC Irvine on July 13. Rookies will report on July 15 and veterans on July 19. The Chargers will remain in camp until Aug. 28.

COACHING STAFF

Joe Madro . . . Offensive Line

Only remaining member of the original Charger coaching staff, Joe Madro enters the 26th year of his coaching career.

A guard at Ohio State, Madro coached in college at Ohio State, Denison, Miami of Ohio and Cincinnati. He followed Sid Gillman to the Los Angeles Rams in 1955 and to the Chargers in 1960. Under Madro, Charger front lines have been a trademark of excellence.

A native of Cleveland and Coast Guard veteran, Madro is married (Patricia Ann) with five children.

John (Red) Cochran . . . Offensive Backs

John (Red) Cochran is new this year to the Charger staff, but a veteran of 13 years as an assistant coach in pro football.

A halfback at Wake Forest College and standout defensive back with the Chicago Cardinals, Cochran began coaching at Wake Forest in 1951. He served three years with the Detroit Lions, nine glory years with Vince Lombardi and the Green Bay Packers and two with the St. Louis Cardinals.

A native of Fairfield, Ala., and Army Air Corps veteran, Cochran is married (Pat) with three children.

Jim Phillips . . . Receivers

Jim Phillips joined the Chargers as coach of receivers midway through 1969 after an outstanding career as a player and one year as an assistant coach with the Atlanta Falcons.

An All-America end at Auburn and No. 1 draft choice of the Los Angeles Rams, Phillips played seven years for the Rams and three with the Minnesota Vikings. He ranks 15th on the all-time list of pro receivers with 401 catches for 6,044 yards.

A native of Alexander City, Ala., Phillips is married (Mickey) with three children.

). A. (Bum) Phillips . . Defensive Coordinator

His real first name is Oail and his devotion to football is as strong as his loyalty to Texas.

Bum Phillips joined the Chargers in 1967. An all-conference guard at Stephen F. Austin College, Phillips was a well-known high school and college coach in Texas for 16 years. He served two years at Texas A&M under Bear Bryant, two at Texas Western and three at the University of Houston

A native of Orange, Tex., and a Marine veteran, Phillips is married (Helen) with six children.

Jackie Simpson . . . Defensive Backs

Jackie Simpson switches from linebackers to defensive backs in his fourth year on the Charger coaching staff.

A guard and linebacker at Ole Miss, Simpson played four years of Canadian football with Montreal and Winnipeg and four years with the Oakland Raiders. He served one year as a scout for the Chargers.

A native of Corwith, Miss., Simpson is married (Angela) with three children.

Hal Herring . . . Linebackers

Hal Herring, former defensive coach of the Atlanta Falcons, is the new coach of linebackers for the Chargers.

A linebacker at Auburn, Herring played pro football for four years with the Buffalo Bills (AAC) and Cleveland Browns. He served as defensive coach at Auburn for 12 years and with the Falcons for three. In 1970, he obtained his doctor's degree in education from Georgia.

A native of Lanett, Ala., and Army veteran, Herring is married (Virginia) with five children.

MEDICAL STAFF

Jim Van Deusen . . . Trainer

Popular Jim Van Deusen is starting his seventh year as trainer of the San Diego Chargers.

The 37 - year - old redhead is long on experience. He worked for the Lincoln, Neb., Chiefs of the Western Baseball League for three years and at the University of California for six years. With the Chargers, he assists the scouting department in the off-season.

Jimmy and Donna Van Deusen have three children (Kathleen 8, Debra 5, and Jay 3).

Dr. E. Paul Woodward . . . Team Physician

Dr. E. Paul Woodward is the highly-regarded team physician of the Chargers.

A native Texan and San Diego resident since 1953, Dr. Woodward has treated the Chargers for 5 years. He is a member of the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons. He is a graduate of the University of Texas and Tulane Medical School.

Paul and Jean Woodward have five children (Douglas 20, Robert 18, Jessica 15, Bruce 14 and Scott 9).

Jim Hammond . . . Assistant Trainer

He wasn't big enough to play football in high school. So Jim Hammond did the next best thing for him. He became an athletic trainer.

Starting his second year as assistant trainer of the Chargers, Hammond was a student trainer at Sweetwater High School, Southwestern Junior College, University of Hawaii and San Diego State College before joining the Charger staff in July, 1969.

Jim, 26, is single and lives in Chula Vista.

COACHING AIDES

Tom Miner . . . Director of Player Personnel

Tom Miner enters his fourth year as head of the scouting department.

Miner, 38, served San Diego as an area scout for three years and as assistant director of player personnel for one year. He was an end and place-kicking star at Tulsa University and with the Pittsburgh Steelers. He also coached and was chief scout at Tulsa.

Tom and Pat Miner have two daughters (Mendy 15 and Carol 13).

Tom Denman . . . Equipment Manager

A charter member of the Chargers is equipment manager Tom Denman.

In addition to his primary responsibility of caring for approximately 35,000 pounds of valuable equipment and three clubhouses, Denman enjoys the triple-threat role of team tailor, masseur and off-season ticket salesman.

Tom and Doris Denman have three children (married daughter Judy, Tom Jr. 20 and Kathy 13).

Maylen . . . Strength Coach

Maylen is his name. Just Maylen. He is the new strength coach of the Chargers.

Proprietor of the La Jolla Health Studio, Maylen supervises the physical conditioning of the Chargers on a full-year basis.

Maylen, 40, won the "Mr. San Diego" contest for physical fitness in 1962. He has been involved in physical conditioning since 1950 and active in San Diego since 1958. His weight-lifting teams have won Pacific Coast titles. Among athletes he has trained is former national discus champion Fortune Gordien.

Maylen's wife is Alma.

ADMINISTRATIVE STAFF

Irv Kaze . . . Business Manager

Well known in professional sports is Business Manager Irv Kaze.

Kaze, 43, came to San Diego in 1967 from the AFL office in New York after one year as league publicity director. Previously he was associated with the California Angels, Pittsburgh Pirates, Hollywood Stars and CBS Sports. He is a Navy veteran and alumnus of New York University.

Irv and Dee Kaze have two sons (Kevin 16 and Benjamin 3).

Jerry Wynn . . . Director of Public Relations

Sixth - year member of the Charger staff is director of public relations Jerry Wynn.

Wynn, 40, was assistant sports editor and columnist for the Long Beach Press-Telegram for 12 years, an Air Force officer and graduate of the University of Illinois. In 1967 he was president of the AFL public relations directors.

Jerry and Barbara Wynn have three children (Ronnie 15, Susan 13 and Nancy 11).

Phil Barile . . . Ticket Manager

Ticket manager Phil Barile, the man to call for 50-yard line seats, is a charter member of the Chargers organization.

Before settling down to the football position in 1960, Barile touched most bases of Los Angeles sports. He was ticket manager of the Pan-Pacific Auditorium for four years and worked for the Dodgers, Rams and Santa Anita and Hollywood Park.

Phil's lovely wife is Louise.

Emil Karas . . . Director of Ticket Promotions

Former star linebacker and defensive captain of the Chargers, Emil Karas switched to a front office position in 1967.

Karas, 36, heads the club's ticket sales force, assists in public relations and is a commentator on Charger game radio broadcasts. He is an alumnus of the University of Dayton.

Emil and Lois Karas have two children (Joann 12 and Emil Steven 9).

Frances Beede . . . Controller

A woman administrator in a man's world of pro football is Charger controller Frances Beede.

Mrs. Beede joined the club when it moved to San Diego in 1961. At the request of Barron Hilton, she transferred her office (controller of Hilton's Lafayette Hotel) upstairs to the Charger office.

Frances has three children (married daughters Gloria and JoEllen and son Tommy 16).

Walter Hoye

. . . Assistant Director of Public Relations

Walter Hoye joined the Charger staff in 1968 as assistant director of public relations.

Hoye, 39, served four years with the Michigan Chronicle as sports editor and columnist and covered the Detroit Lions. He attended Wayne State University and had been associated with sports and public relations for 13 years.

Walter and Vida Hoye have two children (Walter 14 and JoAnn 13).

Bob Hood . . . Special Assignments Director

Water boy to staff member of a pro football team—every kid's dream was fulfilled by Bob Hood.

Hood, 24, began his Charger career in 1962 as water boy. He served as assistant equipment manager, photographer and film manager before being promoted to full-time staff status in 1968. The San Diego State alumnus lists purchasing agent and training camp coordinator among his present duties.

Bob and Diane Hood have two daughters (Lorri 4 and Lisa 1).

Gene Leff . . . Director of Photography

Gene Leff joins the Charger staff in a new full-time capacity this year, but has been associated with Charger filming since 1962.

A professional ice skater for 14 years as member of the Flip And Flop comedy team, Leff turned to photography and worked for the San Diego Gulls, Rockets, and NFL Films in addition to the Chargers. He has filmed and edited several Charger hi-lite films.

A native of Cleveland, Leff, 40, is married (Donna) with three children.

Orrin Fisher . . . Film Assistant

A young man with a big position is Orrin Fisher.

Fisher, 21, joined the Chargers in 1968 as a film assistant. He did such an outstanding job, he was soon promoted to film manager. This year he will work under Gene Leff in filming games and editing them into play reels for the coaches.

Fisher attends San Diego State College where he is a senior majoring in mathematics. He is a native of Santa Monica, Calif., single and eligible.

1970 OUTLOOK

Down with the establishment! List them as Oakland and Kansas City or Kansas City and Oakland. Label them with American League or American Conference. To the San Diego Chargers, they represent the established order of finish to which the Chargers have been third "best" for four consecutive years.

Although 1970 offers a new look in pro football, San Diego is faced with the same uncomprising visage of competition as before. The Chargers are grouped with the Raiders, Chiefs and the ascending Denver Broncos in the Western Division of the American Conference of the National Football League.

San Diego is not conceding.

"I think the players and coaches are just tired of finishing behind Oakland and Kansas City and are determined to do something about it," said Charger Coach Charlie Waller. "We have the tools to do it. It's a matter of combining good execution with a minimum amount of injuries. I'm sincere. I think we have a good chance to win the championship this season."

Under Waller, who replaced ill Sid Gillman with five games left in 1969, the Chargers won their last four to finish with a record of 8-6. They capped the season with a 45-6 rout of Buffalo.

San Diego does appear to possess the ingredients to lick its third-place syndrome in 1970. The offense, which ranked second in the AFL last year, has firepower. The defense, which ranked sixth, was responsible for more wins in 1969 than the offense.

Quarterback John Hadl returns for his ninth year as one of the game's premium signal-callers. Still, he will be challenged for the starting position by Marty Domres, the No. 1 draft choice from Columbia in 1969, who performed impressively as a rookie.

Whoever does the passing will benefit from San Diego's brilliant pair of wide receivers, all-pro Lance Alworth and Gary Garrison.

Alworth led the AFL in 1969 for the third time in four years and gained more than 1,000 yards for a record seventh consecutive year. Of note, he has not missed a game in two years. Of notoriety, he broke Don Hutson's pro record last year by catching at least one pass in 96 consecutive games.

Garrison's value was starkly illustrated in 1969. With Gary in the lineup, the Chargers were 8-2; without him 8-6. To avoid such catastrophy in the future, San Diego used its No. 1 draft choice this year for another wide receiver—All-America Walker Gillette, 6-foot-5, from Richmond, who had three-year totals of 158 catches, 2,649 yards and 22 touchdowns.

The Chargers also are well-stocked at tight end with veterans Willie Frazier, who has all-league credentials, and Jeff Queen.

A strong contingent of running backs is paced by Dickie Post, the 5-9, 190-pound marvel, who led the AFL in rushing last year. Possessed of "the quickest feet in pro football," Post has increased his yardage in three years from 663 to 758 to 873 with outstanding averages of 4.1, 5.0 and 4.8.

Behind Post are reliable Russ Smith and talented but untested Ron Sayers. The fullbacks are Gene Foster and Brad Hubbert, both tough and experienced, and a No. 5 draftee, Pettus Farrar from Norfolk State.

The offensive line has talent and depth with tackles Terry Owens, Gene (Giant Cat) Ferguson and Bob Wells, guards Walt Sweeney (a two-year all-pro), Jim Schmedding and Bill Lenkaitis and centers Sam Gruneisen and Lenkaitis.

The Charger defense, nicknamed the "Dead End

Kids" for its tenacity at the goal line, is a major reason for optimism. It has more maturity and depth than in several years.

The defensive line has all-star Steve DeLong (17 sacks in 1969) and Bob Briggs at ends and giants Russ Washington (6-6, 300) and Ron Billingsley (6-8, 295) at tackles. Among the reserves are Lamar Lundy, 14-year veteran acquired from the Rams, and rookie Tom Williams, No. 2 draft choice from UC Davis.

The linebacking corps will be strengthened by the return of Bob Babich, No. 1 draft choice in 1969, who missed the season because of knee surgery. Babich is slated to challenge co-captain Rick Redman in the middle. Pete Barnes and Jeff Staggs are bruising outside backers and Bob Bruggers a top-flight reserve.

Three-fourths of the defensive backfield is solidly manned by all-league strong safety Kenny Graham, weak safety Jim Hill and left cornerback Bob Howard. Battling for the other position will be holdover Joe Beauchamp and newcomer Randy Beverly from the Jets with veterans Speedy Duncan and Jim Tolbert also in contention at corner or safety.

Duncan provides standout kick returning—he finished second in punt returns and third in kickoff returns in 1969 — and Dennis Partee led the AFL in punting and is a reliable placekicker.

The ingredients are there for a strong Charger team. Down with the establishment!

1969 REVIEW

With a surging finish of four victories, the San Diego Chargers ended 1969 with a record of 8-6 and third place in the Western Division of the American Football League.

Three Chargers won individual league titles—Dick Post, rushing; Lance Alworth, pass receiving, and Dennis Partee, punting.

Post, spectacular little (5-9, 190) three-year veteran, scored a runaway victory over Jim Nance of Boston with 873 yards to 750 for Nance. Post averaged 4.8 yards for 182 carries, scored six touchdowns, caught 24 passes for 235 yards and had five 100-yard games rushing.

Alworth captured the pass receiving title for the second year in a row with 64 catches for 1,003 yards. It was his seventh successive season gaining more than 1,000 yards, as pro football record.

Partee annexed the punting title with a Charger record average of 44.6. He also led the club in scoring with 78 points.

Defensive back Speedy Duncan finished second in the league in punt returns with a 10.4 average and third in kickoff returns with a 28.0 average.

Quarterback John Hadl was fifth in passing and with 2,253 yards, surpassed 2,000 yards for the sixth consecutive year. He had the lowest pass interception average (3.4) in the league.

As a team, San Diego was second in total offense with an average of 330.1 yards and sixth in total defense allowing an average 302.6. However, it was on defense that the Chargers showed their greatest improvement statistically since 1965.

The Chargers intercepted 31 passes, second highest total in club history and only one behind AFL leader Kansas City. Individually, Jim Hill with seven and Bob Howard and Speedy Duncan with six were among league leaders. The Chargers made 35 quarterback tackles, 17 of them by Steve DeLong. Both are club highs since 1965.

HISTORY OF THE CHARGERS

Aug. 14: First organizational meeting of the proposed American Football League is held in Chicago with six teams, including a Los Angeles entry represented by Barron Hilton. Plans are made for start of league play in 1960 season.

Oct. 14: Frank Leahy, former Notre Dame coach, signs contract to become general manager of Chargers.

Jan. 7: Sid Gillman signs three-year contract to coach the Chargers.

April 9: A total of 207 candidates report to special Charger tryout camp at Burbank.

June 9: Chargers and other members of the AFL sign a five-year contract with the American Broadcasting Company for network telecasting of games.

July 1: General Manager Frank Leahy resigns because of ill health.

July 9: Sid Gillman takes over dual role of coach and general manager.

Aug. 6: Paul Lowe returns opening kickoff of first preseason game 105 yards for touchdown as Chargers defeat the New York Titans, 27-7, before 27,778 at Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

Sept. 10: Chargers rally for two touchdowns in last quarter to defeat the Dallas Texans, 21-20, in first league game before 17,724 at Coliseum.

Dec. 10: Chargers outscore Denver, 41-33, to earn first Western Division championship of the AFL. Only 9,928 fans watch game at Coliseum.

Dec. 18: The Chargers, playing their last home game under Los Angeles banner, turned back New York, 50-43, and wind up first season with 10 victories and 4 defeats.

Jan. 1: Chargers lose first AFL championship game to Houston Oilers, 24-16, before 32,183 in Houston.

Feb. 10: AFL gives formal approval for Barron Hilton to shift Los Angeles franchise to San Diego.

Aug. 6: Playing in a setting more reminiscent of ancient Roman ruins than a football stadium, the Chargers defeat Houston, 27-14, before 12,304 sunbaked fans in first AFL pre-season game in Balboa Stadium. Scaffolds, lumber, scattered concrete and open trenches from the enlargement and overhauling operation littered the area. Temperature reached 95 degrees.

Nov. 19: A crowd of 33,788, largest of the first campaign in San Diego, watch as the Chargers defeat Dallas, 24-14, for their 11th victory of the season and 15th consecutive triumph. It clinches their second Western Division championship with five weeks remaining on the schedule. Safetyman Charlie McNeil made the Chargers' 43rd pass interception to establish an all-time pro football record that increased to 49 by season's end.

Dec. 24: Chargers drop their second AFL Championship playoff to Houston, 10-3, in a defensive battle before 29,556 in Balboa Stadium.

Jan. 7: Coached by Sid Gillman and featuring 11 Chargers, the West defeats the East, 42-27, in the first AFL All-Star game before 20,973 in Balboa Stadium. Charger ends Dave Kocourek and Don Norton each catch touchdown passes.

Sept. 26: Charger quarterback Jack Kemp, suffering from an injured hand, is placed on waiver list and claimed for $100 by Buffalo.

Dec. 16: Chargers drop 26-17 decision at Dallas to wind up with their worst season — 4 victories, 10 defeats. During the season 23 players missed two or more games because of injuries.

Jan. 13: The West defeats the East, 21-14, in second AFL All-Star game in Balboa Stadium. End Earl Faison of the Chargers is named the outstanding defensive player.

Jan. 14: Quarterback Tobin Rote, a National Football League and Canadian Football League great, quits Toronto and signs contract with Chargers.

April 30: Barron Hilton and his father, Conrad, sell one-third interest in Chargers to San Diego businessmen John Mabee, George Pernicano, Kenneth Swanson and James Copley and M. L. Bengston of Los Angeles.

Sept. 8: Chargers open drive for third Western Division championship with 14-10 victory over Buffalo.

Dec. 22: Eight Chargers score as team rolls to a 58-20 victory over Denver in the finale of the 1963 regular season. Point spree stands as San Diego record and helped team wind up with 11-3 mark.

1964

Jan. 5: Chargers win their first AFL title with a rousing 51-10 conquest of Boston before 30,127 in Balboa Stadium. Fullback Keith Lincoln gains 206 yards in 13 carries, scores two touchdowns and accounts for 349 yards total offense.

Jan. 19: Keith Lincoln named the outstanding offensive player as West defeats the East, 27-14, in the annual AFL All-Star game. A crowd of 20,016 watched in Balboa Stadium.

Jan. 29: Chargers and seven other members of the AFL sign a five-year television contract for a record $36 million with the National Broadcasting Company (NBC) to commence with the 1965 season.

Nov. 26: A Balboa Stadium attendance record of 34,865 is established as the Chargers bow to Buffalo, 27-24, on Thanksgiving Day.

Dec. 6: Chargers defeat New York, 38-3, for eighth victory of the season and their fourth Western Division championship. Later losses left team with 8-5-1 season record.

Dec. 26: With Lance Alworth out because of injury and Keith Lincoln sidelined early in the first quarter with a fractured rib, the Chargers drop a 20-7 verdict and the AFL championship to Buffalo before 40,242 in War Memorial Stadium.

Jan. 16: Fullback Keith Lincoln of Chargers helps the West continue its All-Star game supremacy over the East with a 28-14 victory in Houston. The game was switched from New Orleans to Houston on one-day's notice. Lincoln was named the outstanding offensive player in a game that also featured Charger quarterback John Hadl, who threw three TD passes.

Nov. 2: Construction of the $27 million San Diego Stadium authorized by a 73 per cent "yes" vote by San Diego citizens.

Dec. 19: Chargers defeat Oakland, 24-14, to wind up season with a 9-2-3 record and their fifth Western Division crown. Lance Alworth gained 160 yards to push his season total to 1,602 yards.

Dec. 23: Paul Lowe, who set league rushing record of 1,121 yards, and Lance Alworth finish one-two in "Player of the Year" voting by AFL players.

Dec. 26: For the second year in row, Buffalo defeats Chargers in the AFL Championship game. This Balboa Stadium encounter wound up, 23-0.

Jan. 15: Linebacker Frank Buncom survived an early-game injury to earn most valuable defensive player honors as the All-Stars defeated league champion Buffalo, 30-19, before 35,572 in Houston. Lance Alworth scored two touchdowns on passes from Jet's Joe Namath and Paul Lowe scored on a one-yard rush.

June 8: The American Football League and the National Football League announce a plan which would see the two leagues merge for the 1970 season. Chargers announce three-year, pre-season game contract with the Los Angeles Rams in the new San Diego Stadium.

Aug. 25: A group of 21 business executives, headed by Eugene Klein and Samuel Schulman of Beverly Hills, purchase the Chargers for $10 million. Klein and Schulman become general partners with Klein replacing Hilton as club president and Schulman taking over as chairman of the board. Barron Hilton and Conrad Hilton retain a substantial interest in the team. James Copley, San Diego newspaper publisher, and George Pernicano, restaurant owner, retain a limited interest.

Nov. 10: Sid Gillman receives a new five-year contract as coach and general manager.

Dec. 18: Eight catches for 156 yards against Kansas City pushes Alworth to a season and all-time Charger high of 73 catches (1,383 yards).

Dec. 24: Ground-breaking ceremonies in Mission Valley signal start of work on the 50,000-seat, $28 million San Diego Stadium, future home of the Chargers.

1967

Aug. 20: San Diego Stadium dedicated as 45,988 fans watch Chargers, playing first National Football League opponent, lose 38-17 pre-season game to the Detroit Lions.

Aug. 27: A San Diego crowd of 46,293 watches in dismay as Chargers are trounced by the Los Angeles Rams, 50-7, in first game between rivals.

Oct. 15: The Chargers and defending AFL champion Kansas City Chiefs combine for a total of 897 yards total offense and another 562 yards in returns as San Diego scores a thrilling, 45-31 victory. Speedy Duncan returns interception 100 yards for new AFL record.

Dec. 24: For the fifth consecutive season, Lance Alworth tops the 1,000-yard mark when he catches two passes for 29 yards against New York. He completed season with 52 catches and 1,010 yards.

Aug. 24: John Hadl passes for 302 yards and two touchdowns as Chargers wallop the Los Angeles Rams, 35-13, before 52,126 at San Diego Stadium.

Oct. 13: With Lance Alworth catching nine passes for 182 yards and Gene Foster rushing for 104 yards, Chargers upset AFL champion Raiders, 23-14, at Oakland. Loss broke Oakland's 14-game win streak and was first at home for Raiders in three years.

Nov. 24: Speedy Duncan sets AFL record with 95-yard punt return.

Dec. 15: Lance Alworth captures AFL titles for most catches (68) and most yards gained (1,312) in sixth successive 1,000-yard season.

1969

Sept. 28: San Diego Stadium record crowd of 54,042 watches as Chargers defeat New York Jets, 34-27. Gary Garrison catches 10 passes for 188 yards and two touchdowns.

Nov. 10: Sid Gillman announces his retirement from coaching because of a stomach ulcer and chest hernia. He continues as general manager. Offensive backfield coach Charlie Waller is appointed head coach.

Dec. 14: In last regular-season American Football League game, Chargers defeat Buffalo Bills, 45-6, for fourth win in row. Lance Alworth catches pass in 96th consecutive game to break pro record of Don Hutson with Hutson present to congratulate him. Alworth captures AFL title for most catches (68) and completes seventh consecutive 1,000-yard season. Dickie Post wins AFL rushing title with 873 yards. Dennis Partee wins AFL punting title with 44.6 average, a new Charger record.
